

Business communication added to DU courses

statesman news service

NEW DELHI, 26 APRIL: The semester system for all the other courses after implementation in science streams last year are now a reality from the coming academic session. But the Indian language papers and commerce stream have added one more paper and even the period of lectures have been increased considerably.

The faculty of both the Indian language papers and commerce course have now decided to add business communication for its students from the forthcoming academic session.

One faculty member of the Indian language papers said that from now on the students of Hindi subject will have to study the business communication as a core paper. The students of English course already study business communication as a core paper. Though the business communication paper has now been introduced in the fourth semester of the commerce.

"Even the period of lectures for each papers in semester system have now been increased to five from earlier three in a week. There will be total 15 weeks of lectures before the semester exam," said a faculty member from commerce stream.

Each paper will carry 100 marks but in exams, the test will conduct for 75 marks and 25 marks have been kept for internal assessment.