NEW DELHI, JUNE 17

Delhi Technological University completed its first part of the online admission registration process with 10,818 candidates registering for 1,218 BTech seats in 15 disciplines. The registration this year is approximately 25 per cent higher as compared to last year's when 8,685 candidates applied for admissions.

Dr Vivek Tripathi, the assistant registrar, said, "We have just completed the online registration process and this year the response has been excellent. This year the entire process of admission is online via the DTU admission website www.dtu-admissions.nic.in. Under this system, the admissions will be made on the basis of merit ranks in AIEEE 2011."

Tripathi said, "Those who have registered for admission will be allowed to submit their online choices of branches available. A candidate can submit as many as 15 choices in the order of his preference. The submission will commence on June 23 and continue till June 29. During this period, the students will be allowed to submit their online admission form along with their preferences for BTech disciplines. Choices once locked by the candidates will not be allowed to change."

He said the university would make all admissions purely on the basis of merit ranks in AIEEE 2011 so long as the candidates satisfy the other eligibility conditions. The first list of admission would be declared on July 5.
