ADDRESS

November 12, 2014

His Excellency Lt. Governor Shri Najeeb Jung Ji, Members of the Board of Management, Prof. Pradeep Kumar, Vice Chancellor, Delhi Technological University, Members of Academic Council, Faculty, Distinguished guests and recipient of degrees of this convocation ceremony, I extend my heartiest greetings to all on this momentous occasion of 2nd Convocation of DTU.

Delhi Technological University (DTU) with a glorious presence of 73 years, is an institution of eminence in the country. To be present at the convocation ceremony of this premier institute and witness the graduation of some of its bright youngsters is an honour which I accept with gratitude. Although the name and fame of DTU needs no elaboration, at the cost of repetition I would like to state that in the field of engineering education and research in India, the indelible mark left by DTU is looked for inspiration and benchmark in the country and beyond. In providing skilled technical manpower to the nation that is aspiring for rapid modernization and industrialization, this premier institute has been playing a yeoman role. To be an alumnus of such institute is a matter of immense pride and all of you who are leaving its corridors of learning with the hard earned degree and certificate deserve my heartiest congratulations. However, with accolades and accomplishments also come expectations and responsibilities. As you step out of this great pedestal of learning and venture into the professional world, you would be judged by few time tested touchstones of ethics, morality, efficiency and effectiveness and continually assessed by many stakeholders with whom you would be associated. And this significant occasion of your convocation is the apt moment to share with you few of these touchstones that you should strive to acquire. It is also relevant for me to stress here that DMRC has come out to be recognized as an island of excellence primarily because of the attributes that we have always aspired and strived to achieve, the ones that I like to share briefly with you today. As a professional engineer or an engineering expert, your professional competence is of utmost importance because as a graduate of a premier engineering institute of the country, it is only natural that you would be viewed as someone with more than adequate knowledge and technical expertise. In the present day competitive world obsessed with targets, delivery etc. and the attendant stringent requirements of safety and quality, the professionally competent engineer is edging out others in success and excellence. The success of the ambitious “Make in India” campaign, recently launched by Hon’ble Prime Minister will depend to a large extent on the availability of competent and skilled technical manpower, because India cannot become a manufacturing and industrial hub of the world if it fails to become a hub of technically sound labour pool. Professional competence also calls for vision and strategic thinking. Steve Jobs used to urge his co-workers in Apple – “to be able to read the lines not even written on the paper”. Of course, professional competence does not necessarily mean that we should be the repository of all knowledge of the discipline we were taught in. But we should be ready to inquire, accept and acknowledge the things that we don’t know so that we can go back, brush our technical knowledge and come back a confident engineer ready to handle and deliver any challenging assignment that comes our way. Not knowing a subject may be fine, but giving excuses for lack of knowledge does not go down well with any organization that we work for. It is said that “ the best job goes to the person who does not come back with excuses.”

This readiness to know and accept our shortcomings and do necessary course correction also shows our integrity and strength of character. Integrity is not just honesty, but it also highlights our principles and belief that guide our conduct. You would find it interesting to know that integrity is not something that has outlived its utility in today’s competitive world; rather it may be a weapon to forge ahead in today’s race for success. This is because a person with strong integrity would be very prompt and fast in taking decisions and executing those decisions, because he would not be bothered by disturbing thoughts about vested gains and losses of his decision. His decision making and execution would be fast as these are based on sound values and principles, not affected by conflicts of interests. In stressing about integrity I should also caution you not to fall into the traps of expectations from your near and dear ones and other well wishers. As you step into the professional world, expectations, mostly unjustified, from various quarters would mount on you and there may be temptations at times to fulfill those expectations to show your prowess and influence. But the end result of such misadventure is always miserable. The evidence of success from high premium put on integrity and values can be seen in many outstanding organizations of the world and their legendary leaders—whether Bill Gates of Microsoft, Steve Jobs of Apple, Ratan Tata of Tata Group or Azim Premji of Wipro.

Another attribute that you should live through, which we have learnt assiduously to build into DMRC culture is discipline and punctuality. Disciplining our thoughts and actions pave the way for clear and visible goals and road to attain these goals. Punctuality for us is “religion “and reminds us that ‘Time is God’. The 24 hours in a day is a constraint that is equally binding on each of us, so key to excellence within this binding constraint lies in how best use of the time is made, which in turn is decided by attention towards punctuality. The punctuality rate of our train operations in DMRC is as high as 99%, with a very stringent threshold of 59 seconds , which has been made possible by our conviction that the train can never run on time if the hands behind train running do not reach on time. So, every employee is expected to be punctual in their duties. DMRC has got world wide recognition for execution of projects of national importance before the targeted deadline, which has been made possible by our consistent and uncompromising approach on punctuality. The innovative system of putting reverse clocks in all our work sites shows the high premium we have put on punctuality. In fact, by being punctual in your work, meetings etc. you would not only value your own time, you would also show due respect to the importance of other’s time. So, in a way, punctuality is also a courtesy to others. The time and cost overruns in most of our government projects is a sad reflection of lack of discipline and punctuality in public life.

A healthy project cannot be designed and executed by an unhealthy engineer. So, never forget to pay attention to your health. Be healthy, both physically and mentally; this cannot be achieved if you do not nourish your health with good food and sleep, and nurture your mind with positive thoughts. Remember that we get paid for doing work , not for falling ill. Develop the good and time tested habit of Yoga & Meditation. I must share with you that in DMRC’s Training Institute, where all the engineers are trained for Operations and maintenance of train services, last period of the day is invariably dedicated to Yoga and Meditation, which later on becomes a healthy and desirable practice for our employees. In talking about healthy mind I must mention about the gradual erosion of morality in our daily life which has become a matter of increasing concern to the parents, elders, conscious citizens and society in general. Any cursory reading of the day's news paper or viewing of news channel rarely gives healthy news and views to make a healthy mind. But there is also the encouraging sign that our younger generation is becoming vocal about many of the ills and unhealthy prejudices and practices in the society. So, there are added expectations from you to be a concerned and alert citizen, always ready to voice his disapproval and legitimate protest against degrading events and practices in the society. Being conscious and responsive to the needs of the society is a great way of giving back to the society that has supported and enabled you to reach where you stand today. Since you are being looked by many as role models, this display of concern and response to the critical needs of the society would have a strong domino effect by encouraging others to follow suit. So, you all need to contribute to the society, by your invaluable services. Being socially conscious would also imply consciousness and concern towards the environment. Greening the environment, conserving water and electricity, encouraging use of bio-degradable packets, bags etc. are effective and doable steps to save our precious environment. So, whatever practices and processes you adopt in your works, always heed to the need for sustainable development.

I have shared with you few of the attributes and touchstones which you should possess by heart as you march out of this august institute with flying colours. The ultimate success of yours to acquire these attributes and become a successful engineer and healthy human being would depend on your attitude. Attitude decides your perception, thoughts and action and charts the journey path of your life. It is that powerful force which helps you to see the word 'Impossible' as 'I M Possible'. So, please go out with a positive attitude and spread joy and beauty around you.

I wish you success in your future Endeavour and remain hopeful that the name of DTU would keep glowing through all your quality service to the nation.

Jai Hind

We are honoured to have Shri. Mangu Singh Ji with us, the managing Director of Delhi Metro, as the Chief Guest. I thank him for coming to DTU and for inspiring our graduating students and for sharing his thoughts.

I am delighted to have the Guest of honour, Shri Anindo Majumdar Ji, Principal Secretary TTE in DTU for sparing his precious time to guide and motivate the degree recipients on the occasion of convocation.

The Convocation is an important occasion of an educational institution, when we charge the graduating students with a pledge to dedicate themselves to the profession they choose and to the cause of human development. This is also an occasion to take stock of the balance sheet of the Institute for the year that has gone by and to unveil the plans for the year to come. I welcome our graduating students and their parents and present to you a report on the activities, achievements and initiatives of Delhi Technological University from the time of last Convocation held on January 11, 2013 up to October 2014.

1. Academic Programme

Delhi Technological University, Delhi has taken several new initiatives in restructuring and strengthening its academic programmes at postgraduate and undergraduate levels over the past years. Introduction of new programs at the postgraduate level and a focus on research and development are the crucial factors that have helped in the recognition of DTU as a premier University for higher learning. The University has emerged as the leading Technological University for technology education and research in the country. DTU continues to be the most sought-after destination for undergraduate and postgraduate studies and attracts the top performers in national examinations such as JEE (Mains) and GATE.

The University has responded pragmatically to the large increase in its intake by substantially reorienting itself academically, technologically and administratively and using it as a great opportunity to retain its leadership in engineering education in the country.

The undergraduate curriculum for engineering education was designed in such ways that it introduced a new rigor and methodology in undergraduate teaching, laying emphasis on developing analytical skills and challenging the students intellectually. The opportunity for minor project during third year has been quite popular and given the student proper technical base and enthusiasm. New program at the PG level approved by the academic council in 2013-2014, include some value based industrially oriented programs.

A new programme leading to M.Tech. Degree in Computational Design was approved and the first batches of 18 candidates have joined 2013-2014. Beside, , other M.Tech. Programs started in the year 2013-2014 are M.Tech. (Bio-Medical Engineering), M.Tech. (Industrial Biotechnology), M.Tech. (Renewable Energy Technology) and M.Tech. (Nuclear Science & Engineering). A special M.Tech. Programme in Power Electronics in Electrical Engineering Department is offered to employees of Delhi Metro Rail Corporation from the year 2014-2015. Table (A) shows the number of students admitted in the session 2013–14, and Table (B) shows the total strength of the students at DTU during the session 2013-2014 at DTU.

In the year 2014-2015, with the initiative of Government of NCT of Delhi, admission to the B.Tech Programmes at Delhi Technological University was conducted through Common Counselling as “Joint Admission Counselling, Delhi” alongwith two other Technical Universities/Institutes viz. Indira Gandhi Delhi Technical University for Women (IGDTUW) and Indraprastha Institute of Information Technology Delhi (IIITD). In this way, total 1532 admissions to B.Tech. Program at DTU was made through common counselling. It is a matter of pride that DTU has also offered 02 seats (supernumerary) to Prime Minister's J&K Special Scholarship Scheme for 2014-15 sponsored by AICTE under MHRD funds. The scheme envisages building capacities of the youth of J&K to enable them to compete in the normal course in different parts of India. The admission to the category PIO/FN/NRI has been conducted through DASA.

Review of academic programmes is a continuous activity at the University. Two Important reviews are to be scheduled to be completed during 2014 - 2015. The first is a comprehensive review of the Ph.D. programme initiated in 2009. It is envisaged that the outcome will have a great impact on the research culture of the University, in general, and the doctoral programme in particular in the years to come. The other review is on the B. Tech., and M.Tech. Programme is also on target. The Ph. D. student strength has steadily been increased in the last 3 years. Presently, University is offering 87 Ph.D assistance ship besides JRF, NET and other sponsored category. All students involved in research in the University are given the opportunity to interact with research community at the national and international level by providing funds to attend international conferences through TEQIP-II. While the research scholars are the primary beneficiary of this scheme, a small number of other PG students and UG students have also benefited.

It is again a matter of pride that DTU has been awarded "Emerging Technical University of the Year" at the Annual Study World Excellence Awards organised by Study World Education Confluence 2013. The award was given by Dr. Shashi Tharoor, Minister of State for Human Resource Development (then), Government of India on July, 20th , 2013.

In this convocation (2014), a total of 1958 degrees will be awarded, which includes 01 Ph.D., 581 M.Tech., 120 M.B.A. 1172 B.Tech. and 73 B.Tech. (Evening).

2. Training and Placement

The university achieved a new height of its glory with its continuous ranking in Top 10 Best Engineering Institutions in India in reputed independent surveys carried out by Outlook and India Today in 2013 and 2014. The University also achieved the distinction of being ranked overall top and second in campus placements in the best Engineering Institutions including the IITs. The Highest salary in the campus placements for undergraduate has gone upto Rs. 93 lakhs p.a. while the domestic salary rose to 28 lakhs p.a. Himanshu Jindal, a computer science student had the honour of receiving the highest paid job offers of Rs.93 lakhs plus from Google this year. A total of 98 companies have already visited the institute for campus recruitment for graduates passing in 2015 and a total of 1043 offers were made. The highest packages (Domestic) are 25.5 lac and highest Package (International) is $108294. The degree-wise break-up of numbers is given in the following table for the graduates passing out 2014.

Students Placement in 2014

Augmentation of our academic infrastructure, instructional and laboratory facilities and human resources have been planned carefully to meet the challenges ahead. With its forward looking academic plans and programmes, DTU is ready to actively participate as an important resource to enhance India's science and technology capabilities in the changing global scenario.

The Society provides a platform for the students of DTU to meet and collaborate with musically inclined people of the college. The society takes responsibility of representing the college during the opening and closing ceremonies of official events. The society has so far got appreciation for giving a tough competition in various cultural fests, such as those of IIT Kanpur, IIT Delhi, Lady Shri Ram College, etc. There have been offshoots of the society - A few members of the Society have got together and formed bands, such as ‘Above the Shadows’, ‘OutDrone’,

'AndhVaas', to name a few. The society conducts Cadence, the Annual Music Competition for the first years as an opportunity to showcase their talent and be a part of the society. This year we had a turn-out of more than 80 students. Apart from the Intra-college event, the society conducts 2 Inter-college events during Engifest, the annual cultural festival of DTU. These are Soundtrack (Solo Competition) and Tranz (Group Competition). With DTU actively participating in other colleges, the number of participants for our festival has gradually increased making the competition more rigorous and intense.
